REFERENCE LETTER

What I like most about Global Sustain is their commitment to work on both sides: making global sustainability issues emerge within the appropriate application context and providing an effective networking environment to enhance dissemination and implementation possibilities of best sustainable practices. Working on and caring about sustainability issues is not a business as usual situation, yet they succeed in transplanting this pro-sustainability attitude through their exemplary sustainable-ware embraced responsibility.

A more personal note: it is not just a pleasure to work with Global Sustain it is also reviving!
